Creating Future...

Creating future

"Whether you aspire to pursue an academic career or seek opportunities in the private, public, or voluntary sectors, a degree from BFIT can set you on the path to achieving your professional goals. Our institution's unwavering commitment to providing comprehensive support to our students equips them with the knowledge and skills to excel in their academic pursuits and attain a high level of professional competence. The success of our graduates, who secure employment in various fields, is a testament to the exceptional education and training that they receive at BFIT."

Outside Classroom Learning

Special interest and social clubs: As a BFIT student, how time is spent outside the classroom is just as important as how time is spent in lectures, tutorial and practicals. Students have the opportunity to fine tune their leadership skills, network with potential employers, master language skills, or simply hang out, socialise with other students and disengage from formal studies for a bit by getting involved in the Clubs Association. The Clubs Association brings together different non-sporting clubs and societies. These range from Faculty student societies, to religious, cultural and political activity based clubs.

Career development

Our Employability program offers career briefings with alumni, alongside skill-building and career exploration workshops offered by career experts.

Professional Development activities offer research and Career Management skills for students. Career consultations, events and workshops will help you build towards success.

"Unlocking the Distinctive Benefits: How BFIT Academics Stand Out and Shape Your Future."

BFIT students make valuable contributions to the organisations and communities they join. The courses they study with us are designed to make sure that their knowledge is vast, and that they are able to take a lead in applying it to develop their own personal futures as well as those of others.

What's important, of course, is not just knowing, but also having the skills to make the best possible use of knowledge. And BFIT specialises in creating learning opportunities that will help you to develop your personal and professional skills to an advanced level.

What are these higher-level skills... They're ways of working with knowledge and with other people that employers and our pass outs tell us are most important to their success:

Being able to analyse and solve a problem that may need you to work with what you already know, and to find new information from a range of areas and sources

Understanding when you need to call other specialists in, and understanding how to work with them in ways that make the best of everybody's contribution

Spotting new opportunities and knowing how to assess these, and to present them in ways that will allow others to understand them and their benefits

Taking your own ideas forward, through research and through networking, and contributing to the development of ideas that others have Graduates tell us that they want to use their college education to lead fulfilling lives and to help their communities to do the same. We have worked hard to educate not just courses but also the way we teach and support your learning to give you every opportunity to use your learning and to develop your skills and knowledge, while you're with us.

CULTURAL

CAMPUS Accommodation

Living in student accommodation is great fun and an ideal opportunity to make both good friends as well as unforgettable memories.

Everybody needs to have some fun every now and then. How we spend our free time is up to ourselves. Many people follow a hobby such as sports, dancing, concerts, arts & crafts, or music. Others enjoy a quiet evening on the couch in front of the TV. No matter what hobby we choose, it is usually meant as a means of recreation to give us a healthy life-work balance. Sometimes it harmonizes with our lifestyle, other times it is the total opposite of our regular life.

Students new to the city normally look for somewhere affordable, comfortable and within easy travelling distance of the Institute. We have approximately 700 bed spaces on offer for our students in our self-catering mess. In Campus accommodation is separate for boys and girls, which are typically arranged in rooms grouped together on separate sites. Students have their own bedroom and attached shower/toilet with approximately all rooms having access to the Institute's internet service. This provides the ideal environment for arranging entertainment, while the bedrooms provide privacy and an area in which to study and relax. Residences staff are happy to help to give advice on room types and availability, however students will find all the information they might need, including how to apply, our current hostel charges, on our website pages.
